RED ROSE OF MARGARET.

Red rose of Margaret,
Here in my book you lie,
Red as her lips and fragrant yet,
Dead rose that can never die; Margaret gathered one red rose, and another red rose I.

As long as any rose is red
On this little rose-hung tree,
As long as willow leaves are green,
Shall I be true to thee.

So vowed I unto Margaret and Margaret unto me,
"As long as this little stream shall run,
Through the quiet willows here,
Out of the shadow into the sun,
Shall Margaret be dear;
Yea, though the stream should dry and the willows die, and the grass grow here.

"Yet should I not forget,
Though the sun should fail,
The holy face of Margaret,
Pale as a pearl is pale;
And change shall change all else, but over this it shall not prevail.

"And as true as I to Margaret
To me shall Margaret be,
And some day we shall stand again
By that little rose-hung tree,
And each, with a rose in the hand, shall say: 'I was faithful unto thee.'"

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Whoop it up strong!
Push it along. —
Hustling is now all the rage;
Give it a push.
Give it a pull—
This is a strenuous age!

Heave at the crank,
Give it a yank.
Things are accomplished by jerks;
Trust not to luck,
Bank upon pluck.
Here's to the fellow that works!

Never take no.
Make the thing go.
Carry the enterprise through;
Be the alpha bravo,
Bring it to pass,
Cheers for the man that can do!

Classic and slang,
Let it go bang.
Vehement, virile and terse;
Bluster away,
Bellow and bray,
Cogent in prose and in verse!

Body and brain,
Tolling amain,
Keyed to the pitch of a life;
"Progress," they cry,
Struggle or die.
This is a strenuous life!

BONES OF MASTODON

Stockton, Cal. 29.—Professor Osborn of the University of California will arrive in Stockton tomorrow morning, and in company with City Superintendent of Schools James A. Barr, will go to Union Island to examine the bones of a mastodon or mammoth discovered there Sunday by Japanese. The visit of Prof. Osborn is for the purpose of taking preliminary steps to have all of the bones removed to the University of California. The party will be accompanied by a photographer, who will take a set of pictures of the scene where the bones were uncovered and of the larger parts of the bones.

At first the discovery was regarded here in the nature of a joke, but over a dozen prominent residents of Stockton have examined the sections of skeleton removed from the ground and say that it is the largest they have ever seen.
The Japanese dug up only a portion of the skeleton and removed it to their homes, and it is believed that the greater part of it can be recovered, as the bones preserved. The teeth were missing from the jaw, and all of the bones indicated that they must have been resting where they were found for hundreds of years. The tusk which led to the discovery is about eight feet in length, and it required the united efforts of several men to load it into a wagon after it had been taken from the ground.

The discovery has created considerable excitement in educational scientific circles here. Just how the skeleton happened to remain on the island so long without being discovered was not clear till it was learned that a good portion of it was inundated land, it was impossible for anyone to move about on it until levees were thrown up around the island and the soil drained.
This is the first year that it has been cultivated, and this discovery may result in other things of value to science being brought to light.

Stranger—He looks as if he might be your oldest inhabitant is he?
Reuben—No, Sir—Why, he ain't hardly no more than the middle-aged-est inhabitant.—Philadelphia Press.

In Russia factories are usually near forests, wood being still the chief fuel.

A STREET SCENE IN BARCELONA.

This picture shows a section of the Rue de Fernand VII, scene of one of the recent riots in Barcelona. With the exception of a few boulevards and wide piazzas, most of the streets in the old Spanish city are as narrow as this one. It was in these busy lanes that the rioters erected barricades and defied for a time the government troops. The troubles in Barcelona although partly due to recent increase of taxation on the necessities of life were in the main political and revolutionary.
